1. Highlight the concrete actions taken between 1 January – 31 December 2017 to implement the commitments which contribute to achieving this transformation. Be as specific as possible and include any relevant data/figures.

IHL and IHRL compliance and accountability

- Kesh Malek developed a gender sensitive child protection policy which is strictly applied in the educational facilities supported by Kesh Malek through the Education and Child Protection program.
- Kesh Malek hired a gender consultant to review and develop all Kesh Malek's policies and procedures to be gender sensitive. The gender consultant developed a gender equality strategy, and guidelines for improving gender sensitivity in media, advocacy and reporting within Kesh Malek.

2. A. How are you measuring progress toward achieving your commitments? Only the categories selected by the organisation will be seen below.

- Other: By developing the internal framework of the organization

B. How are you assessing whether progress on your commitments is leading toward change in the direction of the transformation?

The actions carried out by Kesh Malek are long-term actions with strategic results which will make it hard to assess. However, the written papers facilitate the work flow and highlight the importance of such procedures in order to reach gender balance and prevent sexual abuse.

3. A. Please select no more than 3 key challenges faced in implementing the commitments related to this transformation. Only the categories selected by the organisation will be seen below.

- Field conditions, including insecurity and access
 Human resources/capacity

- Strengthening national/local systems

B. How are these challenges impacting achievement of this transformation?

Field conditions are an obstacle to the application and follow-up with the developed policies including remote management, security situation, lack of skilled women through years of marginalizing women, weak participation of women especially at the decision-making level.

4. Highlight actions planned for 2018 to advance implementation of your commitments in order to achieve this transformation.

Kesh Malek has changed the mandate of the women empowerment program and is looking forward to scale up its project to tackle issues related to women and child abuse on different levels and through several program including girl's education, inclusive education, women support, and capacity building.

5. What steps or actions are needed to make collective progress to achieve this transformation?

Adapting strict procedures with local service providers regarding sexual abuse especially educational authorities, and to develop more programs that enable women and break the typical role of women in local communities.

6. List any good practice or examples of innovation undertaken individually or in cooperation with others to advance this transformation.

Deploy child protection officers (one male and one female) in each educational facilities to ensure application of the principles of child protection.

| Commit to empower national and local humanitarian action by increasing the share of financing accessible to local and national humanitarian actors and supporting the enhancement of their national delivery systems, capacities and preparedness planning. | Change People's Lives: From Delivering Aid to Ending Need Invest in Humanity |

1. Highlight the concrete actions taken between 1 January – 31 December 2017 to implement the commitments which contribute to achieving this transformation. Be as specific as possible and include any relevant data/figures.

People-centered approaches (feedback mechanisms, community engagement, etc)

Kesh Malek has worked through its programs to develop local communities resilience. The community mobilization program and through "A Country's Identity" centers it has targeted 30,500 beneficiaries (12,881 men, 12,410 women, 2,492 boys, and 2,717 girls) in several activities including awareness raising, political-social participation, women empowerment, capacity building, and meeting the intellectual needs of people.

In northern Syria, Kesh Malek has provided quality formal education services for 1,700 boys and girls, and raised the awareness through "My Rights" advocacy campaign of 1,698 people (302 men, 334 women, 625 boys, and 437 girls) regarding child protection principles and children rights to education. The girls' education project returned 373 girls who had dropped out back to education with several approaches specially designed for such cases. The women's empowerment program raised awareness and built capacity of 1,384 women. And finally, the Ta'afi project enabled support to 14 survivors from political detention.

2. A. How are you measuring progress toward achieving your commitments? Only the categories selected by the organisation will be seen below.

- Through existing, internal systems or frameworks for monitoring, reporting and/or evaluation.

B. How are you assessing whether progress on your commitments is leading toward change in the direction of the transformation?

The indicators in the project are divided to quantity and quality which measure the accomplishment of the activities and the beneficiaries, along with measuring the increase in skills and participation of people.

3. A. Please select no more than 3 key challenges faced in implementing the commitments related to this transformation. Only the categories selected by the organisation will be seen below.

- Field conditions, including insecurity and access
- Funding modalities (earmarking, priorities, yearly agreements, risk aversion measures)
- Human resources/capacity

B. How are these challenges impacting achievement of this transformation?

The security situation and forced displacement has had a major effect on the implementation of the project. Furthermore, limited resources and unsustainable funding prevent the organization from launching comprehensive and long-term interventions and cause gaps in funding.

4. Highlight actions planned for 2018 to advance implementation of your commitments in order to achieve this transformation.

- Scale up the existing project and develop the mandate of some projects to launch more focused programs.
- Take the lead in advocating toward social and political issues related to the Syrian context.
- Share good practices and focus on the media reach.

5. What steps or actions are needed to make collective progress to achieve this transformation?

- Develop the program in coordination with grass-root organizations to avoid applying standard interventions that are unrealistic in the Syrian context.
- Focus on building the capacity of Syrian civil society organizations.

6. List any good practice or examples of innovation undertaken individually or in cooperation with others to advance this transformation.

Increase the involvement of the field staff in the process of developing the project and problem analysis.
