Individual Commitments

Commitment	Commitment Type	Core Responsibility
The Sovereign Order of Malta will continue to use its diplomatic network and status to provide support in implementing humanitarian aid and to promote dialogue among parties. The Order commits to a facilitating role wherever there is a possibility of exchange and cooperation between different parties.	Operational	Political Leadership to Prevent and End Conflicts

Where did your organization stand on these issues prior to making these commitments

The Sovereign Order of Malta as a sovereign entity deploys 106 bilateral diplomatic missions worldwide and 33 representatives to international organizations, representing a wide net supporting its humanitarian activities in the world. The Ambassadors of the Order are the witnesses and the promoters of the principles and core mission of the Order of Malta, offering a neutral, independent and apolitical platform for dialogue. The commitment aims at fostering such a worldwide network.

Achievements at a glance

Within the last 6 months through this diplomatic network the Order was able to provide medical assistance to Latin American countries; promote its knowledge in migrants and refugees response in Central American countries facing new migratory challenges; join the "stand together initiative", in order to promote information about the critical situation of religious minorities in Middle East; host a roundtable of the "Global Foundation", the international think-tank of governmental stakeholders; host high-level meetings with representatives of the Libyan authorities and of international organizations in order to discuss the migration challenges and the humanitarian emergency caused by the loss of lives at desert and sea and the human rights violations in detention centres. These achievements were only possible through the unique position of the Order, its network and its partners.

How is your organization assessing progress

Progress is measured through the increase of projects, a wider diplomatic and humanitarian presence worldwide, including very remote regions. The Ambassadors on the ground are constantly monitoring projects in cooperation with local authorities.

Challenges faced in implementation

For the Order of Malta the biggest challenge is access to funding and in particular to unrestricted funds in order to be more effective in the implementation of its projects. The security issue is also critical for the expansion of its action. The Order has already recorded casualties on the ground in Afghanistan and Ukraine.

Next step to advance implementation in 2017

The next steps will be to secure support to Latin American, African and Middle Eastern communities in need. The Order will continue to use its diplomatic network to promote human rights - as the Order is a permanent observer to most international organisations - and increase its regional and worldwide humanitarian activities.

Individual Commitments

Commitment	Commitment Type	Core Responsibility
The Sovereign Order of Malta commits to make religion a driver of peace by identifying supportive religious leaders of all faiths and religions to act together to influence communities to promote peace. The Order will make its network and diplomatic means available to ensure that religious actors use their sphere of influence and their moral obligation to promote and bring into force the fundamental principles and basic rules of human rights on at both State and community levels.	Operational	Political Leadership to Prevent and End Conflicts

Where did your organization stand on these issues prior to making these commitments

The Order of Malta as a 900 year old faith-based institution and a sovereign entity, is continuously meeting religious stakeholders. At these important and sometimes significant moments it promotes peace and religious dialogue, cooperation and coexistence, respect for each individual in accordance with religious and human rights principles. The Order has organized and taken part in many initiatives on this topic.

Achievements at a glance

In the second half of 2016 the High Representatives of the Sovereign Order of Malta paid an official visit to Russia and met prominent Orthodox leaders, such as the Vice-Metropolit Hilarion and the former Prime Minister of Russia, Anton Pushkov, now president of the "Royal Society for Palestine". These meetings were aimed at developing joint projects for the protection of religious minorities in the Middle East and the protection of Christian heritage. For decades the projects of the Order of Malta in Lebanon have been developed in close cooperation with the local faith communities - Sunnies, Shiites and Druzes. In the country the Order manages many socio-medical centres, such as Kefraiya, which are recognized as a neutral and safe place for people of different confessions.

How is your organization assessing progress

Development of indicators, results, returns on investments (seen as sustainability of projects), human impact, social acceptance, feasibility of the projects.

Challenges faced in implementation

For the Order of Malta the biggest challenge is access to funding and in particular to unrestricted funds in order to be more effective in the implementation of its projects. The security issue is also critical for the expansion of its action. The Order has already recorded casualties on the ground in Afghanistan and Ukraine.

Next step to advance implementation in 2017

Throughout 2017-2018, the Sovereign Order of Malta will implement the projects resulting from the above mentioned meetings. Moreover the Order is organizing a major event in June 2017 on "Children in Conflict" in cooperation with the Holy See, the Czech Embassy to the Order and to the Holy See, the Council of Europe, the European Union and UNICEF. The aim of the meeting is to discuss how to better protect children, the first victims of armed conflicts and displacement. The Order is organizing WHS follow-up meetings in 2017 and 2018 and new roundtables with the Libyan representatives.

Where did your organization stand on these issues prior to making these commitments

The Sovereign Order of Malta started preparing for the WHS in 2014 and it organized an important Symposium in Geneva in May 2015 - "Religions Together for Humanitarian Action", gathering more than 400 participants including representatives of four different faiths – Christianity, Islam, Judaism and Vedantism – as well as experts and diplomats, leaders of secular and faith-based humanitarian organisations. After its participation in the WHS the Order wishes to continue to promote the added value of faith-based organizations at the international level.

Achievements at a glance

Through the Symposium "Religions Together for Humanitarian Action" in Geneva and the Special Event on faith-based organizations during the WHS in Istanbul, the Order of Malta emphasized the important role of faith-based institutions and organizations as first responders and trustworthy partners in areas of humanitarian emergency.

How is your organization assessing progress

Ongoing meetings for the preparation of follow-up events in 2017-2018.

Next step to advance implementation in 2017

Following its commitment started with the Symposium and reaffirmed with its participation at the WHS in Istanbul, the Order will organize follow-up meetings in 2017-2018, in order to develop talks and cooperation promoted in the 2 first major events. In order to advance implementation the Order seeks to create a code of conduct applicable to all institutions and organisations engaged in humanitarian aid and to reach local communities by investing in infrastructure and assistance networks already present in the conflict areas, and to promote the values of FBOs in order to combat prejudices of both communities and governments.

The Sovereign Order of Malta is active in 120 countries some of which are facing humanitarian crises. A major goal is to promote international humanitarian laws and other legal instruments to protect human life and dignity and the implementation and compliance to IHL. Offering assistance to whoever is in need regardless of ethnic background, sex and religion is a founding principle of the Order of Malta.

Achievements at a glance

Libyan Coastal Guard Training: the first session of the medical training mission for future Libyan instructors, in which a medical team of the Order of Malta's Italian Relief Corps participated has taken place (December 2016 - January 2017). The training was carried out as part of the European naval force operation EUNAVFOR MED Sophia, launched with the aim of preventing migrant deaths in the Mediterranean sea, countering the criminal networks controlling human smuggling and trafficking and training naval personnel in Libya, which has become a departure point of the boats overloaded with migrants. The Order of Malta's medical team participated in the training of 89 Libyans in search and rescue at sea, an activity the Order has been carrying out on board Italian Navy vessels since 2008. The doctors of the Order of Malta's Italian Relief Corps have assisted some 50 thousand migrants over these years.
