Individual Commitments

Commitment	Commitment Type	Core Responsibility
UNRWA commits to continue human rights, conflict resolution and peacebuilding programming in its schools, in order to empower Palestine refugee students to enjoy and exercise their rights, uphold human rights values, be proud of their identity and contribute positively to their society and the global community.	Operational	Political Leadership to Prevent and End Conflicts

1. Highlight the concrete actions taken between 1 January – 31 December 2017 to implement the commitments which contribute to achieving this transformation. Be as specific as possible and include any relevant data/figures.

To further strengthen its Human Rights, Conflict Resolution and Tolerance Programme (HRCRT), the United Nations Relief and Works Agency for Palestine Refugees in the Near East (UNRWA) established its first ever Agency-wide Student Parliament representing more than 526,000 students in UNRWA schools. To support peaceful conflict resolution, a guide on peer mediation and peaceful conflict resolution is in its final stages of development, to empower school parliaments to play a key role in this area. Students were actively involved in the development of the guide. All UNRWA teachers received top-up training on human rights, conflict resolution and tolerance education.

2. A. How are you measuring progress toward achieving your commitments? Only the categories selected by the organisation will be seen below.

- Through existing, internal systems or frameworks for monitoring, reporting and/or evaluation.
- By reporting to, or using reports prepared for, UN principal organs, UN governing boards, or other international bodies
- Through multi-stakeholder processes or initiatives (e.g. IASC, Grand Bargain, Charter for Change, etc).

B. How are you assessing whether progress on your commitments is leading toward change in the direction of the transformation?

"Prevalence of human rights culture and practices." This is measured through a Perceptual Survey of students and staff, complemented through classroom observation.

3. A. Please select no more than 3 key challenges faced in implementing the commitments related to this transformation. Only the categories selected by the organisation will be seen below.

- Buy-in
- Field conditions, including insecurity and access
- Funding amounts

B. How are these challenges impacting achievement of this transformation?

There continues to be a contradiction between human rights values taught at UNRWA schools and the realities students experience on the ground. This can make some teachers and students question the value of human rights education.

4. Highlight actions planned for 2018 to advance implementation of your commitments in order to achieve this transformation.

In 2018, UNRWA will work to further strengthen its HRCRT Programme through support and empowerment of the Agency-wide Student Parliament, to ensure that it represents the school level parliaments and thus all the children of UNRWA schools. Particular emphasis will be put on strengthening the role of the student parliament in addressing violence through peer mediation and peaceful conflict resolution.

5. What steps or actions are needed to make collective progress to achieve this transformation?

Advocacy, awareness of the Agency-wide Student Parliament and the school parliaments' role, and development of conflict-resolution tools as highlighted above.

6. List any good practice or examples of innovation undertaken individually or in cooperation with others to advance this transformation.

UNRWA created the first agency-wide student parliament and empowered students to advocate for their rights through presentations at key global events, such as at meetings of the United Nations General Assembly (UNGA), Arab League, and UNRWA Advisory Commission.

To this end, all UNRWA field offices developed action plans to address violence against children and at present, a series of support products are being developed to support action plan implementation. During the reporting period, UNRWA identified and provided assistance to 2,540 children experiencing a child protection risk. In addition, UNRWA continued to engage with relevant authorities and other duty bearers to advocate for the rights of Palestine refugees on issues related to, among others, humanitarian access, the protection of health care and education, and physical security of Palestine refugees.

UNRWA also continued to advocate for the respect of the neutrality and inviolability of its installations (schools, health centres, etc.) as United Nations (UN) premises as required under international law.

In 2017, UNRWA provided inputs to the United Nations Secretary-General (UNSG) report on the protection of civilians in armed conflict as well as in relation to the United Nations Security Council (UNSC) Resolution 2286 (protection of medical care).

1. Highlight the concrete actions taken between 1 January – 31 December 2017 to implement the commitments which contribute to achieving this transformation. Be as specific as possible and include any relevant data/figures.

The concerted efforts of the United Nations Relief and Works Agency for Palestine Refugees in the Near East (UNRWA) through its Education Reform and innovative approach to ensuring the continuation of education in emergencies, have proved successful.

In 2017, emphasis has been put on embedding the principles, practices and achievements of the UNRWA education reform into the agency's operations. New Strategic Units have been established, playing a key role in strengthening the education governance and professional support in each field office. Professional development programmes continue and new cohorts of school principals and teachers undertook the Leading for the Future, School Based Teacher Development programme (SBTD) I and SBTD II programmes.

The 2016/17 school year was marked by a decrease in the agency-wide cumulative drop-out rates and overall improvement in student achievement in the Monitoring of Learning Achievement (MLA) Tests. Student survival rates (95.34) are their highest in the last 6 years in the basic education cycle, and cumulative drop-out rates for elementary boys and girls (1.17), and preparatory boys and girls (2.87) are at their lowest rate in the last 7 years (since 2010).

The coefficient of internal efficiency - a measure of the overall efficiency of the programme - is at its highest since 2010/11 when the reform began (0.91 in 2014/15) and now up to 0.92 (in 2016/17).

- Field conditions, including insecurity and access
- Funding amounts
- Funding modalities (earmarking, priorities, yearly agreements, risk aversion measures)

B. How are these challenges impacting achievement of this transformation?

UNRWA is confronting the most severe economic crisis in its history, putting the education of over half a million children and youth in the region at risk. The funding challenge can impact both on access and quality of education delivered.

4. Highlight actions planned for 2018 to advance implementation of your commitments in order to achieve this transformation.

UNRWA aims to sustain, embed, and enrich the principles and practices of the Education Reform and its education in emergencies approach in the next year/s. The reform policies, strategies and strengthened organisational support structures, will continue to provide a strategic direction and structure for the education programme. Capacity development and support will be provided to help ensure harmonization and coherence between the five fields.

5. What steps or actions are needed to make collective progress to achieve this transformation?

UNRWA will continue to work with partners and host governments to ensure that Palestine refugee children have access to quality, inclusive, and equitable education, including in times of crisis.

1. Highlight the concrete actions taken between 1 January – 31 December 2017 to implement the commitments which contribute to achieving this transformation. Be as specific as possible and include any relevant data/figures.

- In 2017, the United Nations Relief and Works Agency for Palestine Refugees in the Near East (UNRWA) finalized, issued and operationalized the Disability Inclusion Guidelines through an agency-wide training of trainers (ToT) process dedicated to mainstreaming disability inclusion into UNRWA programming. 33 trainers benefitted from the ToTs and action plans were developed across all countries to rollout the training for additional frontline staff.
- As of February 2018, 195 staff received training, and it is estimated that a total of 335 staff will be trained by July 2018.
- In 2017, UNRWA staff identified a total of 601 persons with disabilities experiencing protection risks, out of whom 86 per cent were provided with assistance. Concurrently, UNRWA Disability Programme helped to facilitate access to rehabilitation services and disability-specific support for 13,143 Palestine refugees with disabilities.
- UNRWA also developed the Technical Standards and Guidelines for Physically Accessible Environment (PAE). The PAE set standards for physical accessibility in all UNRWA facilities, and has begun to implement them in the design of new schools.
- The Education Management Information System includes a tool to collect data on disabilities for all UNRWA students, disaggregated by age and sex. The tool uses a harmonized definition of disabilities and aligns with the Agency inclusive education approach.
- Improving disability disaggregated data collection and increasing participation of persons with disabilities in planning, implementation and monitoring of UNRWA's activities are a priority for 2018.

People-centered approaches (feedback mechanisms, community engagement, etc)

The United Nations Relief and Works Agency for Palestine Refugees in the Near East (UNRWA) considers Accountability to Affected Populations (AAP) as a cornerstone of quality service provision. Several initiatives are in place in the different fields of operation to provide Palestine refugees with enhanced access to information; and to have their voices taken into account into the decision making-process related to the provision of humanitarian services.

Some of these initiatives include: the Communication with Communities approach in Gaza; the UNRWA hotline available to beneficiaries of the food voucher programme in the West Bank; feedback mechanisms and AAP pilot project rolled out in different camps in Lebanon; regular meeting with leaders and implementation of post-monitoring surveys in Syria and Jordan, amongst others.

Cash-based programming

UNRWA has successfully rolled out cash-based social protection programming in Jordan, Lebanon and the West Bank, reaching an estimated 155,000 beneficiaries each quarter. The implementation of the new cash modality in these three fields required training of staff, consultation with the refugee communities, training for Social Safety Net programme (SSNP) on the use of the e-card (ATM), capacity building, awareness raising and communications with beneficiaries, communities and host authorities and the establishment of a hotline for refugees. An evaluation is currently carried out to determine the efficiency and effectiveness of the transition to cash based transfers, and will be completed during 2018.

- Through existing, internal systems or frameworks for monitoring, reporting and/or evaluation.

B. How are you assessing whether progress on your commitments is leading toward change in the direction of the transformation?

Through regular reporting via UNRWA's Results Based Monitoring System and annual reporting to donors (which includes a section on AAP). UNRWA also reports on AAP and Cash as a signatory to the Grand Bargain.

3. A. Please select no more than 3 key challenges faced in implementing the commitments related to this transformation. Only the categories selected by the organisation will be seen below.

- Buy-in
- Funding amounts
- Human resources/capacity

B. How are these challenges impacting achievement of this transformation?

The transition from food to cash required training of staff; close consultation with refugees communities and host authorities, and capacity building.

Scarce resources limit the implementation of needed adjustments to the cash based transfer programme.

4. Highlight actions planned for 2018 to advance implementation of your commitments in order to achieve this transformation.

In 2018, if funding is available, UNRWA will implement some adjustments to the cash based transfer programme, including adjusting the transfer values to consumer price indices every two years; and to ensure reserves are maintained to stabilise the budget, in the event of currency exchange rate fluctuations.

UNRWA is also working to harmonise targeting mechanisms and the transfer modalities between regular and emergency programme. UNRWA also plans a review of assistance modalities in Gaza.

1. Highlight the concrete actions taken between 1 January – 31 December 2017 to implement the commitments which contribute to achieving this transformation. Be as specific as possible and include any relevant data/figures.

In 2017, the United Nations Relief and Works Agency for Palestine Refugees in the Near East (UNRWA) continued to invest in strengthening emergency preparedness and response systems across the agency. The agency-wide Emergency Management Framework (EMF) was finalized, outlining policies, procedures, systems and structures to guide the agency's preparedness and emergency response work.

In May 2017, UNRWA conducted a 2-day emergency simulation exercise involving UNRWA field offices and HQ departments, designed to test critical functions, processes and procedures required at UNRWA HQ and between UNRWA HQ and the Gaza Field Office in the event of an emergency. Lessons learned from the exercise were identified and incorporated in the Agency EMF. Support was provided to relevant field offices in the development of their contingency plans, in particular in Lebanon and West Bank.

UNRWA Education Department continued to strengthen the Agency Education in Emergencies approach, to ensure it responds to evolving needs. The approach, which builds on the UNRWA education system and structures, introduces innovations in key areas such as psychosocial support, alternative learning modalities, safety and security, and student and community engagement.

- Through existing, internal systems or frameworks for monitoring, reporting and/or evaluation.

B. How are you assessing whether progress on your commitments is leading toward change in the direction of the transformation?

If resources allow, UNRWA will conduct field-level simulation exercises in 2018, to test functions, processes and procedures in a field-specific emergency context.

Funding shortages and ongoing protracted emergencies limit the implementation and resources available for preparedness actions, including training and simulation exercises.

4. Highlight actions planned for 2018 to advance implementation of your commitments in order to achieve this transformation.

In 2018, UNRWA will continue to strengthen preparedness through the drafting and roll out of an Agency-wide Emergency Response Handbook, including SOPs for emergency response of relevant programmes and units. Support to field offices will continue in relation to the drafting and implementation of their specific Field Emergency Response procedures.

Joined-up humanitarian-development analysis and planning towards collective outcomes

The United Nations Relief and Works Agency for Palestine Refugees in the Near East (UNRWA) works in environments where humanitarian aid and human development activities are delivered in parallel. UNRWA remains committed to maintain coherence across different funding and programming streams and in this sense continuously works to improving its planning process. In 2017, UNRWA also stepped up its partnership efforts, including through engagement with the World Bank on education. UNRWA continues to participate in the Regional Refugee and Resilience Plan (3RP) meetings in Amman, and with the necessary caveats that apply to Palestine refugees in relation to durable solutions, is also part of the recently constituted Regional Durable Solutions Working Group in Amman.

Other-4C

On health, UNRWA adopted the person-centered family health team approach, and has achieved greater efficiencies through reducing the number of doctor-patient consultations, allowing for longer consultations, better treatment, reduced antibiotic prescription rates, and reduced numbers of repeat visits.

In Education, UNRWA implemented an Education Management Information System that includes a tool to collect data on disabilities for all UNRWA students, disaggregated by age and sex. The tool uses a harmonized definition of disabilities to reflect the UNRWA inclusive education approach.

1. Highlight the concrete actions taken between 1 January – 31 December 2017 to implement the commitments which contribute to achieving this transformation. Be as specific as possible and include any relevant data/figures.

The United Nations Relief and Works Agency for Palestine Refugees in the Near East's (UNRWA's) commitments in this area, in relation to transparency, management costs, financing and local procurement were fully aligned with the Grand Bargain (GB), to which the agency is a signatory.

UNRWA has improved the presentation of its financial requirements to member states through a clearer articulation of minimum and critical funding needs and linkages between the Agency's three funding portals (programme budget, emergency appeals and projects). In line with the GB commitments, UNRWA continues to advocate for multi-year funding from donors to provide more predictable and longer term planning horizon.

UNRWA has implemented a number of reforms to achieve greater cost effectiveness and efficiency. These include the Family Health Team reforms, the centralization of medicine procurement, and the hospitalization reform; the adoption of class formation norms and standards and the use of ceilings for the number of students per class; the transition from food to cash in three fields; and updated staff pay policies.

UNRWA has started preliminary discussions with the International Aid Transparency Initiative (IATI) to understand actions required to become an IATI member.
