1. Highlight the concrete actions taken between 1 January – 31 December 2017 to implement the commitments which contribute to achieving this transformation. Be as specific as possible and include any relevant data/figures.

Denmark continues to support the role of the UN in situations of conflict and fragility, which in 2017 included a Danish contribution to the UN Peace Building Fund. At field level Denmark continues to implement a number of regional peace and stabilisation programmes in priority counties and regions such as Syria-Iraq, Sahel-region, Horn of Africa and Afghanistan-Pakistan region. In 2017 engagements included concrete support through UN agencies such as UN Funding Facility for Stabilisation in Iraq, and support to the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime (UNODC) projects targeting transnational crime in Sahel, Horn of Africa and the Middle East region. Other concrete engagements in 2017 included working with civil society organisations active in the field to strengthen the advocacy role of civil society for instance in Sahel region and Syria. Denmark supported the Humanitarian-Development-Peace Initiative under the World Bank State and Peacebuilding Fund. In line with Denmark's new Strategy for Development Cooperation and Humanitarian Action, Denmark is applying joined-up approaches to planning and programming of development cooperation and humanitarian action in countries affected by fragility, conflict and displacement. This is also in line with Denmark's support to the implementation of the New Way of Working, cf. section on Initiatives in this World Humanitarian Summit Self-report.

1. Highlight the concrete actions taken between 1 January – 31 December 2017 to implement the commitments which contribute to achieving this transformation. Be as specific as possible and include any relevant data/figures.

IHL and IHRL compliance and accountability

The Danish Military Manual has now been published. The manual contains provisions for the compliance of international humanitarian law and other relevant international law, in particular human rights law, during planning and execution of military operations within the framework of Denmark’s military engagements. Furthermore, Denmark actively supports the accountability agenda in a Syrian context, e.g. through financial support to the UN International, Impartial and Independent Mechanism (IIIM).

Gender-based violence prevention and response

Denmark continued to be a champion of the fight against gender-based violence (GBV) in 2017:
- by advocating at high political level for fight of sexual and gender-based violence (SGBV) in humanitarian crises e.g. at UN high-level meetings.
- by mainstreaming GBV efforts and continuously removing barriers for coherent humanitarian and development efforts regarding sexual and reproductive health and right (SRHR). Denmark’s new Strategy for Development Cooperation and Humanitarian Action provides the framework for ensuring that Danish development and humanitarian assistance takes into account the special vulnerabilities of women and girls. In September 2017 signing of partnership agreements with UNFPA and UNICEF covering both humanitarian and development funding. New partnerships with Danish civil society organizations (CSOs) agreed in 2017 include a focus on protection from GBV.
- as an active partner in Call to Action on protection against GBV in emergencies.

2. A. How are you measuring progress toward achieving your commitments? Only the categories selected by the organisation will be seen below.

☐ Through existing, internal systems or frameworks for monitoring, reporting and/or evaluation.

B. How are you assessing whether progress on your commitments is leading toward change in the direction of the transformation?

Among other through:
- Call to Action collective progress assessments,
- Assessing to which degree partners includes GBV components in programmes and create synergy of humanitarian and development efforts.

3. A. Please select no more than 3 key challenges faced in implementing the commitments related to this transformation. Only the categories selected by the organisation will be seen below.

☐ Funding modalities (earmarking, priorities, yearly agreements, risk aversion measures)

B. How are these challenges impacting achievement of this transformation?

Barriers of creating synergy of humanitarian and development efforts include funding modalities (funding streams politically earmarked for humanitarian and development activities), multi-annual funding often require yearly parliamentary approval, and silo thinking at UN and CSO partners whereby development and humanitarian activities are treated separately.

4. Highlight actions planned for 2018 to advance implementation of your commitments in order to achieve this transformation.

Denmark plans to further strengthen the dissemination of international humanitarian law by issuing the Danish Military Manual in a version translated into English. Denmark will provide multi-year funding towards GBV prevention, coordination and response in humanitarian crises 2018-19 through its strategic partnerships with selected Danish NGOs and UN organisations, in particular UNFPA. Moreover, Denmark will seek to further linkages in the field between SRHR actors and other humanitarian actors to create synergies of activities in the humanitarian responses.

5. What steps or actions are needed to make collective progress to achieve this transformation?

Ensure donor commitment to the fight against GBV, including by getting more donors to sign up to the Call to Action initiative. Ensure that other sectors/clusters also contributes to the cause (e.g. WASH, Education, Shelter etc) – hold the the Inter-Agency Standing Committee (IASC) organisations accountable towards the IASC policy on gender equality and the empowerment of women and girls in humanitarian action from December 2017.

6. List any good practice or examples of innovation undertaken individually or in cooperation with others to advance this transformation.

Addressing root causes of GBV in emergencies requires a development assistance lens. Denmark works towards breaking down barriers between humanitarian and development work (eg. new Development Strategy includes humanitarian action; partnership agreements with organisations encompassing both humanitarian and development funding; multi-annual contributions to humanitarian efforts).

Throughout 2017, Denmark has actively participated in and supported the intergovernmental process in Geneva on strengthening respect for international humanitarian law in line with Resolution 2 of the 32nd International Conference.

In 2017, Denmark doubled its core contribution to ICRC to DKK 40 million (from DKK 20 million in 2016)

Refugees

Denmark continued to be a top donor to the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR) and is committed to finding durable solutions for refugees and internally displaced people (IDPs). Denmark supported the roll out of the Comprehensive Refugee Response Framework (CRRF) at country level both politically and financially, in Ethiopia, Uganda and in the region affected by Somali displacement. In 2017, Denmark supported comprehensive approaches to displacement with DKK 150.7 million to the EU Trust Fund for the Syria crisis (Madad), bringing the total Danish contribution to Madad to DKK 300.7 million, and with DKK 337.1 million to the Global Concessional Financing Facility (GCFF) for Middle Income Countries hosting refugees with the aim to provide longer-term development-oriented solutions (infrastructure, health, jobs) for displacement affected population and the host communities, especially in Jordan and Lebanon. Moreover, Denmark contributed DKK 11 million to the International Development Association (IDA) 18 refugee window. Denmark also supported the Education Cannot Wait Fund, providing education in emergencies. Through its support to civil society organizations (CSO) partners, Denmark also supported resilience, self-reliance and protection of refugees, IDPs and host communities.
2. A. How are you measuring progress toward achieving your commitments? Only the categories selected by the organisation will be seen below.

☑ Through existing, internal systems or frameworks for monitoring, reporting and/or evaluation.
☑ By reporting to, or using reports prepared for, UN principal organs, UN governing boards, or other international bodies
☑ Through multi-stakeholder processes or initiatives (e.g. IASC, Grand Bargain, Charter for Change, etc).
☑ By applying processes/indicators developed to measure WHS commitments specifically.

3. A. Please select no more than 3 key challenges faced in implementing the commitments related to this transformation. Only the categories selected by the organisation will be seen below.

☑ Institutional/Internal constraints
☑ Joined-up humanitarian-development analysis, planning, funding and/or response
☑ Other: Important that all relevant government ministries, beyond ministries tied to refugee response, are involved to support longer-term resilience.

B. How are these challenges impacting achievement of this transformation?

Host governments must be in the lead to the extent possible, with the involvement of all relevant government ministries, beyond those ministries or departments traditionally tied to refugee response, and with support for gradual capacity building if necessary. Parallel systems do not create the engagements needed to effectively support longer-term resilience and self-reliance.

5. What steps or actions are needed to make collective progress to achieve this transformation?

Including forced displacement issues in national development plans is a prerequisite for the design of truly comprehensive interventions.

- advocating at high political level for women’s empowerment and sexual and reproductive health and rights (SRHR) e.g. at UN high-level meetings.
- mainstreaming gender equality and right focus and continuously removing barriers for coherent humanitarian and development efforts regarding SRHR. A new Strategy for Denmark’s Development Cooperation and Humanitarian Action was adopted in January 2017 provides the framework for ensuring that Danish development and humanitarian assistance includes a focus on women empowerment and SRHR. In September 2017 signing of partnership agreements with the United Nations Population Fund (UNFPA) and the United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF) covering both humanitarian and development funding. New partnerships with Danish CSO’s agreed in 2017 include a focus on gender empowerment and SRHR.
- funding specific UNFPA SRHR efforts in Syria crisis (20 million DKK), and UNFPA family planning services in Ethiopia in cooperation with WFP (20 million DKK).
- funding efforts of Women’s Refugee Commission and the Inter-Agency Working Group on Reproductive Health in Crises to expand knowledge and close research gaps on sexual and reproductive health and rights in crisis setting (3 million DKK).
- facilitating development of innovative solutions: Danish MFA co-organized a Hackathon on SRHR in Crises in Copenhagen in November 2017.

2. A. How are you measuring progress toward achieving your commitments? Only the categories selected by the organisation will be seen below.

☐ Through existing, internal systems or frameworks for monitoring, reporting and/or evaluation.

B. How are you assessing whether progress on your commitments is leading toward change in the direction of the transformation?

Among other through:

- Assessing to which degree partners includes gender focus in programmes and create synergy of humanitarian and development efforts.

3. A. Please select no more than 3 key challenges faced in implementing the commitments related to this transformation. Only the categories selected by the organisation will be seen below.

☐ Buy-in
☐ Funding modalities (earmarking, priorities, yearly agreements, risk aversion measures)
☐ Joined-up humanitarian-development analysis, planning, funding and/or response

B. How are these challenges impacting achievement of this transformation?

Barriers of creating synergy of humanitarian and development efforts include funding modalities and silo thinking at UN and CSO partners whereby development and humanitarian activities are treated separately. While partners often have a GBV focus, more buy-in is needed on SRHR and women involvement in humanitarian action.

4. Highlight actions planned for 2018 to advance implementation of your commitments in order to achieve this transformation.

Denmark will provide multi-year funding towards SRHR efforts in humanitarian crises through its strategic partnerships with selected Danish NGOs and UN organisations, in particular UNFPA. Moreover, Denmark will seek to further linkages in the field between SRHR actors and other humanitarian actors to create synergies of activities in the humanitarian responses.

5. What steps or actions are needed to make collective progress to achieve this transformation?

Ensure donor commitment to SRHR efforts. Ensure that other sectors/clusters also contribute to the cause (e.g. Wash, Education, Shelter etc) – hold the Inter-Agency Standing Committee (IASC) organisations accountable towards the IASC policy on gender equality and the empowerment of women and girls in humanitarian action from December 2017.

6. List any good practice or examples of innovation undertaken individually or in cooperation with others to advance this transformation.

SRHR efforts often under-prioritized. Important to get all sectors/clusters engaged. Danish funded project in Ethiopia where UNFPA in cooperation with WFP food distribution are able to access internally displaced women not otherwise reached with family planning services.

Strengthening national/local leadership and systems

In 2017, Denmark redesigned its civil society organizations (CSO) partnership approach. As a result, Denmark selected 17 Danish CSO strategic partners whose engagements cover both development cooperation and humanitarian action for 2018-2021. The negotiations around the strategic partnerships allowed Denmark to engage with the CSOs in discussion on how to improve local actor engagements through multi-year investments and capacity strengthening. This opened up for more stable, efficient and predictable working environments for Danish CSOs and their South partners. The CSO strategic partners were required to work with local/national partners and to explain in detail their approach, based on which the quality and depth of their local partnerships. CSOs working in areas affected by armed conflict and recurrent natural disasters were specifically required to work with capacity building of communities, national and local organisations, local authorities and relevant civil society actors aimed at building local capacity to better prepare for and respond to crises, in particular in favour of vulnerable and marginalised groups, including women and girls.

Adherence to quality and accountability standards (e.g. CHS, SPHERE)

In the 2017 redesign of its strategic CSO partnerships, Denmark made it clear that it would hold CSO partners accountable for increasing involvement of beneficiaries in the design and response as well as in the monitoring and evaluation, including being verified or certified under the Core Humanitarian Standard (CHS). The CHS is applicable for all CSOs working in areas directly impacted by conflict.

Other-4A

In the boards of UN agencies, Denmark has requested its multi-year agreements with UN agencies to be reflected in their subcontractual arrangements with NGO implementing partners, to enable these to plan for a longer time horizon in protracted crises and to build their capacities.

Denmark provided core support to the Overseas Development Institute/Humanitarian Policy Group (ODI/HPG) integrated research programme 2017-2019 which includes a thematic focus on “From the ground up: understanding local response in crises”.

Moreover, Denmark supported Development Initiatives’ work, including on localization and analysis of data.

The MFA will strengthen its analysis of the proportion of grants transferred to local/national partners. Moreover, it will explore how it can blend with development funding which would bring longer-term perspective and funding to strengthening local and national partners.

In its capacity of donor lead on the European Regional Development and Protection Programme Middle East, Denmark is developing a Phase 2. Based on the evaluation, capacity strengthening of local actors and systems will be a strategic priority for the 4-year programme.

5. What steps or actions are needed to make collective progress to achieve this transformation?

Roll out of the International Aid Transparency Initiative (IATI) will help to obtain an overview of funding going to local and national actors through intermediaries such as INGOs, multilateral agencies or pooled funds.

6. List any good practice or examples of innovation undertaken individually or in cooperation with others to advance this transformation.

The MFA assesses that the World Humanitarian Summit has galvanized support among CSOs and a strong commitment to the work stream for localization. By demanding status of progress on partnership from its CSO partners, the MFA has deliberately used its strategic partnerships as a way to incentivize Danish CSOs to make progress on the localization.

1. Highlight the concrete actions taken between 1 January – 31 December 2017 to implement the commitments which contribute to achieving this transformation. Be as specific as possible and include any relevant data/figures.

In addition to continuation of climate relevant funding through the multilateral development institutions, including funding of the Least Developed Countries Fund (LDCF) established under the UN Climate Convention, Denmark has pledged DKK 80 million to climate adaptation in Ethiopia and Mali with a particular focus on the agricultural sector. Identification and implementation of climate adaptation within agriculture, e.g. more climate resistant crops, climate sensitive cultivation methods, improved water resources management and green post-harvest value-adding can improve people's life and transform the selected communities.

In March 2017, Denmark provided DKK 300 million for early humanitarian action to avert famine in the Horn of Africa and Yemen. The grant was provided through the World Food Programme (WFP), the International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC) and Danish NGO's working in the affected countries.

Denmark also supported the Government of Ethiopia’s Productive Safety Net Programme in view of building a national safety net system to provide effective support in chronically food insecure rural areas, including providing cover during droughts.

Denmark provided DKK 11 million to the Global Program on Forced Displacement (GPFD) in support of the implementation of the International Development Association (IDA) 18 Refugee Sub-window, with a view to strengthening preparedness for potential new refugee flows.

In 2017, Denmark redesigned its civil society organizations (CSO) partnership approach. Denmark required its strategic Danish CSO partners working in areas affected by recurrent natural disaster to work with capacity building of communities, national and local organisations, local authorities and civil society actors to better prepare for and respond to crises.

Change People’s Lives: From Delivering Aid to Ending Need

1. Highlight the concrete actions taken between 1 January – 31 December 2017 to implement the commitments which contribute to achieving this transformation. Be as specific as possible and include any relevant data/figures.

Joined-up humanitarian-development analysis and planning towards collective outcomes
In 2017, Denmark launched its new joint strategy for development cooperation and humanitarian action, The World 2030. Denmark works with its international and national partners to roll out joined-up humanitarian and development assistance to address both short-term and long term aspects of humanitarian crises, fragility and violent conflicts. Denmark applies a longer-term development approach to addressing displacement in fragile and conflict-affected countries. E.g. Danish support to: The roll out of the Comprehensive Refugee and Response Framework (CRRF) globally and at country-level in Uganda, Kenya and in the region affected by Somali displacement; the World Bank’s (WB) Global Program for Forced Displacement; the International Development Association (IDA) refugee window; the Global Concessional Financing Facility to MICs hosting large refugee populations. Danish lead on the European Regional Development and Protection Program (RDPP) Middle East. Support to RDPP Horn of Africa. Supports the Humanitarian-Development-Peace (H-D-P) Initiative under the WB's State and Peacebuilding Fund. Denmark joins up humanitarian and development analysis and planning in its bilateral development programs in Uganda, Bangladesh, Myanmar and Somalia.

Other-4C
Denmark has new agreements with United Nations (UN) and civil society organizations (CSO) covering both humanitarian and development work. Multi-year funding is provided for the World Food Programme (WFP), the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR), the United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF), the United Nations Population Fund (UNFPA), the United Nations Relief and Works Agency for Palestine Refugees in the Near East (UNRWA) and the United Nations Population Fund (UNDP) as well as for 17 strategic CSO partners to enable them to do multi-year planning and programming in protracted crises. Multi-year support is also provided to the World Bank (WB) Global Concessional Financing Facility, the WB State and Peacebuilding Fund, including the H-D-P Initiative, and Education Cannot Wait, and for the European Development and Protection Programmes.

Denmark recognizes the potential for increased use of innovation in the humanitarian response. The support to Danish civil society therefore includes criteria for innovative approaches to international development cooperation and humanitarian action and allows the partners to allocate up to 10% of the engagement budget to innovation. Denmark engages in the development of private sector initiatives, new partnerships and international platforms such as the Global Alliance for Humanitarian Innovation. Furthermore, UN WOMEN, UNFPA, UNDP, and UNICEF receive Danish support for their innovation facilities.

☑ Institutional/Internal constraints

☑ Multi-stakeholder coordination

4. Highlight actions planned for 2018 to advance implementation of your commitments in order to achieve this transformation.

Denmark continues its focus on operational roll out of the humanitarian-development nexus at country level, including roll out of the Comprehensive Refugee Response Framework and the Humanitarian-Development-Peace Initiative in collaboration between the World Bank and the UN.

Denmark supports EU operationalising the humanitarian-development nexus in in Uganda as pilot country.

In the Grand Bargain (GB), Denmark and UNDP have been co-convenors of the humanitarian-development engagement in GB workstream 10. In 2018, all GB workstreams are expected to integrate the humanitarian-development nexus.

5. What steps or actions are needed to make collective progress to achieve this transformation?

The increased multi-year funding provided by donors requires a stronger focus on multi-year collaborative planning and response plans and stronger links between humanitarian and development actors. Focus should be on pragmatic solutions that work on the ground - rather than on process and HQ based discussions. Need for more inclusion of governments and local authorities to ensure sustainability, without undermining the commitment to principled humanitarian action.

6. List any good practice or examples of innovation undertaken individually or in cooperation with others to advance this transformation.

Denmark has entered into multi-year agreements covering both humanitarian and development work with UN and CSO partner organisations to enable them to plan and programme long term to meet and reduce needs and vulnerabilities in protracted crises - in line with the New Way of Working. Focus on building livelihoods, resilience and self-reliance in crises.

Country-based pooled funds

In 2017, Denmark continued to be among the top-donors to the UN-led country-based pooled funds (CBPFs), with a total contribution of DKK 225 million to CBPFs in Lebanon, Nigeria, Somalia, South Sudan, Sudan, Syria, Turkey and Yemen. Denmark supported CBPFs as a mechanism that helps increase and improve assistance by national and local responders - often in crisis situations where international actors have limited access. Denmark also attached importance to CBPF's overhead policy which offers equal treatment to international, national and local actors. CBPFs are assessed to represent a fair, systematized approach to ensuring provision of overheads to national and local NGOs, letting them benefit from the same conditions as international non-governmental organizations (INGOs). The MFA is also engaging with its UN and CSO partners in discussions on access to pooled funding mechanisms, including for local women's groups.

Addressing blockages/challenges to direct investments at the national/local level

In 2017, as part of its redesign of CSO partnerships, the Danish MFA called on strategic CSO partner organisations to strengthen their analysis of the proportion of funding that is transferred to local partners, and the proportion used for capacity development of local partners.

Other-5A

Denmark provided DKK 5 million to Somali and Afghan diaspora groups in Denmark working with humanitarian projects in their countries of origin. The Danish Emergency Relief Fund (DERF) had a strong focus on local ownership and engagement of local partners. In 2017, 86 per cent of all grants were implemented through local partners, and 69 per cent went directly to project activities and goods for crises affected people and communities.

Denmark does not provide humanitarian funding directly to local and national responders, but provides humanitarian funding indirectly to local and national responders through intermediaries such as UN agencies, INGOs/Danish strategic CSO partners and pooled funds. Denmark provides development funding directly to local and national actors, in countries with Danish bilateral development programmes. The MFA has

4. Highlight actions planned for 2018 to advance implementation of your commitments in order to achieve this transformation.

As donor lead on the European Regional Development and Protection Programme Middle East, Denmark will incentivize direct partnerships with local actors and national authorities through adapting the selection criteria for partnerships under phase 2. Several Danish CSO partners engage through the Charter for Change (C4C) to increase direct funding to southern-based humanitarian NGOs, reaching 20 per cent of their funding by May 2018.

5. What steps or actions are needed to make collective progress to achieve this transformation?

Full adherence to the IATI standards are expected to provide better overview of funding streams to national and local actors.

Following Denmark's consultations with Danish strategic CSO partners, many of these are currently strengthening their financial tracking systems so that they are suited to track support to local and national actors as well as preparing their organisations to report through the IATI system.

1. Highlight the concrete actions taken between 1 January – 31 December 2017 to implement the commitments which contribute to achieving this transformation. Be as specific as possible and include any relevant data/figures.

Denmark provides a substantial part of its financing as flexible to ensure agility and responsiveness in crises situations. In 2017, 35% of Denmark's total humanitarian funding was non-earmarked or softly earmarked. In Denmark's 2017 Humanitarian Partnership Agreements with UN Agencies and civil society organizations (CSOs), flexible funds totalling DDK 667 million were included to enable rapid use in sudden onset or rapidly deteriorating situations. Denmark's new Strategy for Development Cooperation and Humanitarian Action, launched in 2017, aims at more coherent approaches in crises and in fragile and conflict-affected settings. In line with the strategy and with the New Way of Working, Denmark favours coherent financing modalities. Denmark sees multi-year planning as key to incentivise more effective and joined-up humanitarian-development work in fragile contexts. Denmark concluded multi-year agreements with the World Food Programme (WFP), the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR), the United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF), the United Nations Population Fund (UNFPA), the United Nations Relief and Works Agency for Palestine Refugees in the Near East (UNRWA) and the United Nations Development Programme (UNDP) to enable multilateral organisations to do multi-year planning and programming in protracted crises.

Denmark provided multi-annual financing for the World Bank (WB) Global Concessional Financing Facility, providing development-oriented support for MIC's hosting large refugee populations, the WB State and Peacebuilding Fund, including the HDP nexus window and the Forced Displacement window, and for the Education Cannot Wait. Denmark's 4-year agreements with CSO partners incentivize them to do multi-year planning and programming in protracted crises. Agreements with UN and CSO partners encompassed both humanitarian and development work to ensure coherence. Denmark worked on blending humanitarian and development aid streams to fund vulnerability-oriented interventions in protracted or recurrent crises. E.g. Ethiopian and Kenyan contexts where multi-annual development programme interventions in the context of drought, famine and displacement were initiated in 2017. Similarly, in Uganda, responding to displacement was included as objective for multi-annual bilateral development programme.

1. Highlight the concrete actions taken between 1 January – 31 December 2017 to implement the commitments which contribute to achieving this transformation. Be as specific as possible and include any relevant data/figures.

Denmark continues to fulfill the United Nations (UN) goal of contributing 0.7 per cent of the gross national income to development assistance.

In 2017, Denmark provided DKK 830 million in non-earmarked or softly earmarked funding. This corresponds to 35 per cent of Denmark's humanitarian funding being non-earmarked or softly earmarked in 2017. Thus, in 2017, Denmark exceeded the Grand Bargain target (of 30 per cent) for unearmarked and softly earmarked humanitarian funding.

In 2017 Humanitarian Partnership Agreements with UN agencies (the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR), the United Nations Population Fund (UNFPA) and the United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF)) and civil society organizations (CSOs), flexible funds totalling DKK 667 million were included to enable Denmark’s strategic partners to react swiftly and in a flexible manner through the deployment of personnel and through financial and material contributions for rapid use in sudden onset or rapidly deteriorating situations throughout the year.

- Through existing, internal systems or frameworks for monitoring, reporting and/or evaluation.
- By reporting to, or using reports prepared for, UN principal organs, UN governing boards, or other international bodies
- Through multi-stakeholder processes or initiatives (e.g. IASC, Grand Bargain, Charter for Change, etc).
- By applying processes/indicators developed to measure WHS commitments specifically.

Funding modalities (earmarking, priorities, yearly agreements, risk aversion measures)

4. Highlight actions planned for 2018 to advance implementation of your commitments in order to achieve this transformation.

In its redesigned Strategic Partnerships with Danish CSOs for 2018-2021, CSO partners have from 2018 the autonomy to use up to 30 per cent of the agreed partnerships budget as flexible funds.

5. What steps or actions are needed to make collective progress to achieve this transformation?

Denmark continues to see flexible financing as a key to ensure agility and responsiveness in crises situations. This also entails flexibility across the humanitarian-development nexus, promoting more coherent approaches in response to conflict, fragility and displacement. To improve cost efficiency, less silos e.g. in the UN Development System are required. Field operations and field effectiveness must be prioritized.
